In 1999, the Cottrill's made a family decision to turn all their attention onto work trucks built the right way. Cottrill Heavy Equipment was established as a specialist in the assembly and servicing of heavy-duty dump trucks for the aggregates industry. Matt Cottrill first took on the truck service trade to meet the family's own needs for supporting its dump truck fleet. Eventually, we saw the opportunity to help other operators in the Kincardine area by opening a facility dedicated to servicing trucks properly.

We spend most of our time working "on" trucks now, but we still start everyday thinking about the needs of people who work "with" trucks. You will see how that experience makes the difference in the build of every Cottrill-built truck.
